COLLEGE STUDENTS TO BUILD HOUSES

ROW OF SUMMER COTTAGES TO ADORN COLLEGE PARK

COST WILL BE SMALL

Will Give Needed Practical Work For Manual Arts Department and Increase Enrollment

"Come to Maryville State Teachers College next summer and live out-of-doors!"

This alluring invitation, illustrated by a picture of beautiful College Park with a row of pretty summer cottages, may be contained in the bulletins sent out by the College next spring, if plans revealed at the weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce last night are carried to completion.

The plan of housing students at lower cost was explained to the business men by E. W. Glenn, head of the College department of manual arts. It was worked out by Mr. Glenn with the help of President Uel W. Lamkin and H. F. Majors, landscape architect of Columbia.

Twenty-four summer cottages will be built east of the drive in College Park. They will be constructed simply but substantially with a view to both durability and economy. The type of cottage has not been definitely decided, but the one most in favor has six rooms: living room, dining room, kitchen and three bedrooms, giving ample accomodation for two, or even three, small families.

The lumber will be cut into standardized sizes by students in Professor Glenn's department. Window frames, doors, and other mill work will be done by the students this winter. When spring comes, they themselves will build the houses.

Mr. Glenn estimates the actual cost of construction of the houses at $175 each. They will be unfinished on the inside, but will not be at all flimsy. Plumbing will not be installed in the houses. Instead each will have a hydrant on the outside, connected with a single main serving all the houses. Sewer connections will be made for each group of four houses. This work will probably bring the total cost of building the colony to $6,000, according to the figures of President Lamkin.

The College does not ask the business man for help in financing the project. The houses will be built as a business proposition to be undertaken by the College itself. If there is not sufficient money in the incidental fund, it will be borrowed and paid back.

The houses will be constructed so that they may be used, under normal weather conditions, for three fourths of the school year. They will be most in demand during the summer quarter, but may be inhabited with comfort in the spring and fall quarters. During the month of August, when there is no school, Mr. Glenn suggests that Maryville residents "camp out" in them.

The houses will be fitted with tables, chairs and other simple articles of furniture made by the students of manual arts. Arrangements will be made to rent stoves and other furniture to the students.

"The proposition appeals to me from three viewpoints," said President Lamkin in a talk following Mr. Glenn's. "First it will give the boys practical work in manual arts. That department is increasing in size and more work of a practical nature must be provided for them.

"Second, it will take care of people who want to come to the College and do light house keeping and cannot find suitable rooms or cannot afford to pay a price that will make it profitable for people to rent such rooms. It will enable us to take care of at least one hundred more students than we otherwise could do. Besides the saving in rent, there would be a considerable saving to students in doing their own cooking.

"Third, it appeals to me as an advertising proposition. We will be the only college in Missouri where students can come and live out of doors. Many students have been going to Boulder, Colo., in the summer to get away from the heat."

Mr Lamkin also outlined the present plans for improving the campus, locating the girls' dormitory on the east side of the drive on the main campus, an outdoor theater west of the main building, an artificial lake where grading has been done for a new athletic field, moving the proposed new field farther to the west and north and a golf links lying partly on the main campus and partly on the ground about the old Seminary Building.

FRANCE FACED BY GREATEST FINANCIAL CRISIS IN HISTORY

Debts Total Two Billion Dollars With Revenues of a Billion And a Half

Paris, Nov. 8—The most serious financial crisis in the history of France today confronts that nation, it was revealed today when a debate opened in the Chamber of Deputies on the new budget. Debt for public services and upon the interior total two billion dollars, with revenues estimated at a billion and a half. The debt of the liberated regions was placed at a billion dollars.

NEW YORK CITY VOTES FOR MAYOR

COALITION HOPES TO DEFEAT TAMMANY'S CANDIDATE

FEW STATE CONTESTS

Virginia Will Choose Governor and New Jersey and Maryland Have Minor Elections

New York, Nov. 8—New York City is voting today for mayor. All candidates were wary of the way the women would cast their ballots for the first mayor they had helped choose. Campaign managers of Mayor John F. Hylan, Tammany's candidate for reelection and the political advisers of Henry H. Curran, president of the borough of Manhattan, who heads the coalition ticket, were equally profuse in predictions of victory, both sides admitting that with 447,615 women entering the ring much depended on this vote.

Election day today marks an "off-year" in national politics.

Only one state, Virginia, is electing a governor, and there are but few other state-wide contests on any sort. Leaders of the two major parties, however, are watching closely the results of these few state and numerous municipal elections in an effort to determine the drift of popular sentiment to aid them in preparing for the congressional elections next year.

New York is electing a judge of the court of appeals, two state senators and a new assembly. New Jersey is electing a new lower house of the legislature and six state senators, the legislative campaign there having been based on the so-called "wet and dry" issue in connection with the enforcement of the state prohibition laws. Maryland voters are choosing a state comptroller, a new lower house of the legislature and approximately half the senate, while those of Pennsylvania are electing a new justice of the supreme court.

There are no state elections in the West.

PACKERS ARE TO SELL DIRECT TO CONSUMERS?

Government Has Suggested Way to Cut Retail Prices on Meat.

Washington, Nov. 8.—As a means of driving down the retail costs of meat, government officials, it became known have conferred with the big packers as to the possibility of getting them to open retail meat markets in all the large cities of the country to sell direct to the consumer.

This movement has behind it not primarily the purpose of benefitting the consumer, although the housewife would be the first to profit by it. Rather the idea is to help the farmer, who is raising cattle and hogs and selling them at ruinous prices. With foreign demand falling off, rather than increasing, the only way out of the situation is to use up the surplus production by increasing consumption here. And that can only be encouraged by lower prices—reductions brought about by squeezing down the distribution costs, not taken from the pittance the farmer now receives for his product.

BUSINESS HOUSES TO CLOSE FRIDAY

MARYVILLE WILL OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY AS HOLIDAY.

PROGRAMS AT SCHOOLS

High School Exercises Thursday, College Friday Morning—Schools Dismissed.

All Maryville business houses will be closed next Friday, November 11, in accordance with the proclamation of President Warren G. Harding declaring Armistice Day a legal holiday for this year only. Grocery stores and meat markets will remain open until 10 o'clock in the morning and will make one delivery. Practically all other business houses will be closed all day.

No paper will be published by either the Democrat-Forum or the Tribune.

Armistice Day was declared a national holiday this year in honor of the American dead in the World War. At Washington, an unknown hero, representing America's honored soldier dead, will be buried with impressive ceremonies in beautiful Arlington cemetery, while statesmen and soldiers of the world powers pay solemn tribute.

The day is also set aside to mark on the following day, the opening of the conference on limitation of armaments, when the statesmen of nine great nations will attempt to limit the size of future armies and navies by a mutual agreement.

Special exercises will be held at the State Teachers College Friday morning, when the second convocation of the student body of the institution will be held. A program in which the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion will take part will be given. It is as follows:

Patriotic songs—Led by Mr. Gardner.

Invocation—The Rev. T. J. Puckett

Address—The Significance of Armistice Day—The Rev. Joseph Cooper.

Song—School.

Flag Salute.

Benediction.

The school will be dimissed after the program in accordance with the request of President Harding and in memory of the men who gave their lives in the World War.

The board of education at its meeting last night voted to dismiss the city schools Friday. The grades will hold a special assembly at 1:20 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and the High School at 2:30 o'clock. The High School program will be in charge of the beginning senior class.

The board also made an order dismissing school Thanksgiving day and on the next day, Friday, November 25 and 26. One of the holidays will be made up on Washington's birthday, February 22.

FIERY GEORGIAN SENATOR ATTACKS AMERICAN LEGION

"Organized by Former Officers to Perpetuate Military Spirit," Says Watson.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Senator Watson of Georgia today carried his fight against the army into the camps of the American Legion. He charged that Secretary of War Weeks is attempting to enlist the legion's aid in an effort to white wash charges that American soldiers were hanged in France without trials.

Declaring he expected the legion to side with Weeks, Watson said: "The American Legion is chiefly organized by former officers who want to perpetuate the military spirit in us."

TAX BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE THIS MORNING

Revision Document Next Must Run Gauntlet of Senate and House Conferees.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The much revised tax revision bill finally was passed by the senate at 1:35 o'clock today after a session lasting more than fifteen hours. It still must run the gauntlet of the senate and house conferees before it reaches the President.

The vote was 38 to 24, three Republicans, La Follette, Moses and Norris voting against the bill, and one Democrat, Broussard, supporting it.

The bill is to be reported to the house Wednesday and Republican leaders plan on Thursday to send it to conference.

As now drawn the bill is estimated by treasury experts to yield approximately 3¼ billion dollars for the fiscal year ending next June 30, or 200 million dollars less than the existing law. If all of the changes proposed become effective, however, the measure ultimately will reduce the nation's tax bill by approximately 3¼ billion dollars.

On three main features of the taxation bill the two legislative branches are in complete agreement today. They are:

The normal tax rate on individual income.

Repeal of the transportation taxes January 1, 1922.

Repeal of the excess profits taxes on the same date.

On two vital principles of the pending measure there is disagreement between the two houses. Those disagreements involve:

Reduction of the higher surtaxes on incomes. The house proposed maximum surtaxes of 32 per cent, and the senate, because of the bi-partisan condition above referred to, has raised this maximum rate to 50 per cent. The present surtaxes run to 65 per cent. It is probable the companies in conference will ultimately be 40 per cent.

Increase of the corporation stock tax, the house proposing to raise the present flat rate of 10 per cent to 12½ per cent, while the senate would still further increase the rate to 15 per cent.

POSSE OF 500 HUNTS FOR ILLINOIS MAIL BANDITS

Porter is Killed in Robbery of Illinois Central Mail Car—Amount of Loot Believed Heavy

Paxton, Nov. 8—The greatest man hunt in the history of Illinois is in progress today as more than five hundred deputies, detectives and citizens are conducting a search for seven bandits who last night held up and robbed an Illinois Central passenger mail car near here.

Postal authorities refused to estimate the amount of loot, but it is believed to be heavy.

Early today the robbers had been tracked on the road running west between here and Ludlow toward Bloomington. Of the five men wounded in the battle with the bandits, Arthur Moon, a porter, died.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Losses incurred in the mail robbery on the Illinois Central near Paxton will be small, the post office department announced today. Postmaster General Hays was considerably aroused over the daring hold up.

Paxton, Nov. 8—A. E. Germer, chief postal inspector of the Chicago district, today scouted reports in circulation that the loss from fire and theft in the Illinois Central Mail robbery may reach the astounding total of four million dollars. He said the government has learned that four red seal pouches containing money were taken.

The local authorities declare the robbers used a motor truck as well as a touring car in escaping.

Gasoline and kerosene were used in firing the mail car after dynamite and nitro glycerine had been used to blow it open.

Miss Owens will be confined at her home, three miles south of Maryville, for several days.

COUNTY JAIL WILL NOT BE REPAIRED

NO ACTION ON GRAND JURY REPORT BEFORE SPRING

MAY USE THIRD STORY

County Is Now Paying For Guards Because of Ramshackle Condition Of Building

The county court will take no action until spring on the recommendations of the grand jury as to the repairs and remodeling of the county jail made in a recent report of the jury, Judge E. T. Bailey, presiding judge, said today.

Judge Bailey said the jail was in a deplorable condition and that something would have to be done to repair it, or build a new one. He was of the opinion hoverer, that a bond issue for a new jail would not carry.

A suggestion was made by Judge Bailey to locate the jail on the third floor of the courthouse. He thought that the upper story of the building could be remodeled and be put in fair shape at reasonable expense for a good safe place for prisoners.

At the present time the jail's being in an unsafe condition is making it necessary for the county to pay for guard duty at that institution. The court has been paying $5 a night for guard duty but at their meeting today they ordered this reduced to $3 a night. For guard alone it will cost the county from $1,000 to $1,200 a year, it is estimated.

The grand jury reported on the jail recommended the repairing of the roof, installation of a complete system of plumbing, including stools and lavatories, renovating of the interior with new plaster where needed painting and papering the interior, and thorough repairing of the revolving cells. Former grand juries have recommended the building of a new jail but no such action on that proposition has ever been taken.

Other proceedings of the court were:

A pool hall license was granted to the New Linville hotel.

The assessment of the Spot Cash store at Elmo was reduced to $1000 on the merchandise. The Kirkbride Mercantile Co., of Ravenwood had its assessment reduced to $2,000.

Some remodeling work has been ordered done in Sheriff Roach's office. The counter and partition will be put east and west instead of north and south.

The court was allowing bills at its session today. Other routine matters were considered. The court will adjourn this evening.

W. Watson, professional golfer of the Mission Hills club of Kansas City, who arrived in Maryville at noon.

Tonight at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, these men will make a report on the feasibility of establishing a links, with its probable cost, and a preliminary organization will be effected.

WELFARE BOARD WITHOUT MONEY FOR WINTER WORK

With Coming of Cold Winter Weather Many Calls For Help Are Received At Mayor's Office

The first real cold snap of the winter arirved today and the forecast is for rain turning to snow and much colder with strong north winds for tonight.

Since the cold weather many calls for coal, provisions, etc., have been received at the office of the mayor. Mayor Fred Robinson, who is chairman of the welfare committee and has had active charge of the work, has reported that the committee is at present in debt. Efforts will be made soon to raise money for the coming year to take care of this work. More calls than ever before are expected during the coming winter months.

DRUG STORE AND BANK BURNED AT KING CITY

Bucket Brigade Pumps Two Wells Dry To Check Ravages Of Blaze

A drug store and the adjoining building occupied by the newly organized Farmers Trust Co., on the south side of Main street in King City were destroyed by fire about 10:30 o'clock last night. Other buildings nearby were badly damaged. The fire is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion of coal stored in the basement of the drug store.

A fire wall between the drug store and an adjoining hardware store saved the latter building, but the entire hardward stock was removed from the building. The bank was a new organization which opened for business only a few months ago and the new banking fixtures recently installed were destroyed with the building.

A bucket brigade fought the flames. The amount of the loss was not learned.

WORKERS READY FOR ROLL CALL

COUNTY ORGANIZATION IS ALMOST COMPLETED

POSTPONED AT PARNELL

Drive For Red Cross Funds Will Be Week Later There—The Chairmen

Steady progress is reported from the County Red Cross Roll Call Committee. All over the country preparations are on for the Fifth Annual Roll Call, which will be on November 13, 14 and 15.

Mrs. C. C. Hellmers heads the Maryville committee, and will build up her staff of workers to handle the display publicity work, and to arrange for the house-to-house canvass, which will be the method followed here.

Polk township outside of Maryville has been made a separate district. Prof Bert Cooper is at work now enlisting a team of workers in each school district.

Parnell saw the Nodaway County Red Cross Film the first time it was shown in the county, and the report is that much favorable comment has been made about the film and the Red Cross work. On account of a conflict of dates, Parnell thinks it wiser to have the Roll Call there about a week later than the rest of the country. This the county committee has approved, for it will give so much better an opportunity to roll up a big Red Cross membership. William H. Burr, superintendent of the consolidated school district there, is the chairman. He is working on some original ideas for making the Roll Call a success there.

Rolla Howden once more directs the work in Skidmore and expects to follow the same plan of last year. Teams of men and women will cover the township and Skidmore, and he himself will take care of the business district.

At Clearmont, John A. Burch is Roll Call chairman and is getting out Red Cross posters and other display matter, and building up his corps of workers.

Steps For Business Revival

1. Insist upon early reduction of armaments.

2. Oppose irritating influence in foreign relation and promote international good will.

3. Bring German reparations within the range of practicability by willingness to consider such modifications as may prove to be necessary.

4. Hasten the stabilization of exchange in order to break the disastrous deadlock in foreign trade.

5. Lighten the burdens upon business by vigorously urging lower taxes; also the repeal of present confiscatory taxes.

6. Encourage sound enterprises with liberal credits and endeavor to check all extravagant expenditure, both public and private.

7. Increase your product and decrease your costs at every reasonable opportunity. Low product and high wages enormously raise the cost of living, especially to labor. True prosperity lies in the abundance—not scarcity of things necessary to life and enjoyment.

8. Work harder, save more and spend less. This applies to employers and employes alike. Shirkers and loafers are too numerous.

9. Foster industrial peace by resorting to temperate discussion; giving and asking the square deal and overcoming radicalism through education, reason and justice.

10. Above all, eliminate the deadly poisons of hate and greed, the spread of which undermines civilization and blasts all the advantages of friendly intercourse.

In proportion as common-sense ideas such as these are observed prosperity will resume its welcome sway. If ignored, depression must continue and perhaps deepen.—New York Journal of Commerce.

Four Years For Congressmen

The resolution before the house introduced by Representative Kline of Pennsylvania to amend the constitution to extend the term of congressmen to four years is one worthy of the most thoughtful consideration. The whole tendency of this and other republican countries has been toward lengthening the period of service for elective offices and the reasons are not difficult to discern.

Under our system of biennial elections the government suffers as private industry does when afflicted with a large labor turn-over. By the time a representative has found out where his desk in the house is and where to hang his hat he is called before his constituents to give an account of his stewardship.

The asburdity in judging a congressman on a two-year record in the house is patent to those who are familiar with the traditions and procedure of that unwieldy body. It is the rare genius who gets an opportunity to make one speech of moment in his first term of service. Then, too, consider the loss of efficiency involved in reaching an official at a time when he has just learned to be of value to his district.

There are other patent evils, too. With a two-year term a congressman must spend his time not looking after legislation in Washington but after the fences in his district. Immediately after his election he must begin planning for his reelection. What value is the country getting from its representatives under the circumstances?

The argument will perhaps be advanced that four years is too long a period to saddle a constituency with an inefficient representative. That can be met by the insertion of a recall provision in the amendment, guarding against a flood of elections by making the number of petitioners large enough to prevent a waste of public funds for political trickery.—St. Louis Star.

NEW AUTOMOBILE LAW MAY CAUSE LESS THEFT

That there will be less automobile theft and a bit more of trouble to the automobile owner and dealers because of the many new regulations, is the general attitude of Maryvillians toward the new automobile law passed by the special session of the legislature.

The features of the new law are as follows: Besides registering his car the owner must also have a certificate of ownership; this certificate of ownership must be endorsed and turned over to the buyer of the vehicle in case of the sale or transfer.

Every closed vehicle from which signaling from the seat is impossible must have a mechanical device under which the driver can give a plain signal from the rear when he or she is to turn to the right, to the left, slacken speed or to stop. This automobile rear signal is required on all closed cars or trucks owned in a town of more than 10,000 inhabitants.

The "operator," a new designation in this law, is any person who drives an automobile as incident to his business.

Cars "in transit" may bear a card instead of license plate which will read "in transit" and tell plainly, in writing, the regular number of the dealer and where bound.

Then penalty for stealing an automobile is set at twenty-five years and $1,000 fine. A third conviction for a minor offense permits the motor vehicle commission to cancel the license of the offender and prohibit him from driving for one year.

SURVEY SHOWS BUSINESS CONDITIONS IMPROVING

Employment Statistics and Payroll Figures Show Small But Steady Increase

There are certain indications that business has rounded the corner of post-war depression and is steadily advancing. No boom is expected or predicted and yet the worst of the general depression seems to be behind us.

Employment statistics have shown a small steady increase during the last three months. Pay roll figures in 65 leading cities from 1428 firms, show an increase of 16,269 or 1.03 per cent over the previous month. When it is considered that the net decrease since January 31, 1921 is 6.2 per cent, and the increase in one month is 1.03 per cent, the employment situation looks considerably brighter.

Iron and steel industries, as well as textile and lumber mills have shown small but by no means unimportant increased. Building construction is reported as picking up in many sections. Railroad earnings over the last few months show a substantial improvement.

It is interesting to note that several basic commodities which in the seven years from the opening of the war, rose in price between 200 and 300 per cent have in the past few months declined rapidly.

A few important examples are these. (The figures represent price changes taking the 1913 price as 100.)

Farm products rose to 246, declined to 115, a drop of 131.

Metals rose to 195, declined to 125, a drop of 70.

Building materials rose to 341, declined to 200, a drop of 141.

Fuel and lighting rose to 234, declined to 184, a drop of 100.

Cloths and clothes rose to 356, declined to 179, a drop of 177.

Another interesting comparison of price conditions is revealed by a study of price rise and fall in certain basic commodities, after the Civil War and after the World War, respectively.

During the early years of both wars (1913 to 1917, World War and 1860 to 1864, Civil War) prices rose to approximately the same level in each case.

After the Civil War, from 1864 to 1868 prices declined to a uniform position somewhat higher than the pre-war level. From 1917 to the present time there occurred first a rise to the peak of high prices in 1920 and then an abrupt drop in one year to the present level which is, in fact, below the level of prices at the same length of time after the Civil War. It would seem from these indications that any further decline in prices will (if any) be very gradual and will cover a long period.

REMARKABLE CONCERT IS GIVEN BY EDISON ARTISTS

Audience Is Baffled When Phonograph Takes Place of Singer Without Their Knowledge

Probably a number of people who attended the recital given last night at the First Christian Church by Harvey Hindermyer and the Dann Sisters trio, composed of Miss Felice Dann, Miss Blanche Dann and Miss Rosalynd Davis, were at first puzzled and disappointed when they discovered a phonograph cabinet occupying the center of the stage.

They were hardly reassured when Miss Felice Dann appeared on the stage and announced that Mr. Hindermyer had been delayed and, rather than disappoint the audience, a Re-Creation, she called it, of Mr. Hindermyer would be played on the phonograph. Their suspicions were confirmed. They were to hear only a phonograph.

But, little did they dream what an amazing phonograph it was. Mr. Hindermyer's golden notes, emanating from the grille of the New Edison, soared over the auditorium in all their beauty. Suddenly they heard another voice, or rather the same voice, coming from the rear of the auditorium. Mr. Hindermyer had arrived and was singing in unison with his Re-Created self. He continued singing while walking toward the New Edison. The effect of two voices, of the same exquisite quality, coming from two different places, was indeed a new sensation and brought all under its magic spell. Mr. Hindermyer reached the side of the New Edison and, during the remainder of the song, paused from time to time, apparently at random, and permitted his Re-Created performance to be heard alone. This gave an opportunity to compare one with the other, and it is no more than just to state that there was not the slightest shade of difference between Re-Created and original voice.

In the course of the evening, similar tests were made by Mr. Hindermyer and the Dann Trio with the same miraculous results. There must have been a slight difference in volume when the artists stopped singing or playing, but it was not noticeable, for the tone which came from the cabinet was round and luscious with all of the vibrant, pulsating quality of that which came directly from Mr. Hindermyer's throat and the instuments of the Dann Trio. It was only by watching the singers lips or the viclinist's bow that one could be sure when they sang or played and when they did not.

The proof was convincing. It it were not, another proof was offered. After Mr. Hindermyer had commenced to sing one number, the lights were turned out—ostensibly so that the audience could not watch the singer's lips.

It did not seem difficult to determine in the dark when the singer sang and when he did not. The writer was pretty sure about it himself until the lights were turned on again and it was discovered that Mr. Hindermyer was not on the stage at all and that the New Edison alone had been heard.

FIFTH ANNUAL ROLL CALL BEGINS ARMISTICE DAY

American Red Cross to Enroll Members Throughout Nation November 11 to 24.

The American Red Cross will conduct its Fifth Annual Roll Call this year beginning on Armistice Day, November 11, and ending the eve of Thanksgiving Day. National headquarters in Washington, division headquarters in the eight divisions of the Red Cross, and headquarters of each of the more than 2,000 chapters, are busily engaged on their Roll Call program, according to information given out at local Red Cross headquarters. The effort will be to re-enroll every present member of the Red Cross and to add as many new members to the roster as possible in the period given.

There are at present 6,041,163 members in the American Red Cross. John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, hopes to hear the answer, "present," when each one of these names is called between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day this year, he says, thus providing for the continuance of the work of service to the public of America and the sufferers in foreign lands which the Red Cross has started and is conducting on the basis of its peace-time program.

In a letter sent out from national headquarters, W. Frank Persons, vice-chairman of the American Red Cross in charge of Domestic Operations, calls attention to the fact that the strength of the Red Cross in the past has been in its volunteer workers. He urges, therefore, that all chapter membership committees seek to re-enlist the largest number possible of the men and women who have served the Red Cross as volunteers in the past, and suggests that the Roll Call is a logical channel for bringing former workers back to service in the Red Cross.

The interest manifested in the Red Cross Convention at Columbus, Ohio, the first week in October, showed that the public is as keen to stand behind the work of the Red Cross in its peace-time program as during the war, and that the thinking public realizes that the Red Cross is as necessary to the welfare of the civilized world in time of peace as in war. Officials of the Red Cross believe, therefore, that the Roll Call this year will result in many more members than were placed on the roster of the American Red Cross last year.

The Red Cross throughout the country is putting on this year its new peacetime program, which includes public welfare service in every direction wherever such service is needed. In health work alone in the last year, 260 chapters have organized health centers with 6,264 clinics and 90,252 cases in these clinics. More than 4,000 health talks have been given by these and other chapters engaged in health work, and health exhibits to the total of 780, both traveling and stationery, have been set up to inform the public on matters pertaining to their own and their community's health.

TEXAS RED CROSS READY FOR FLOOD

Chapters Near Stricken District Send Aid Inside Twelve Hours.

The Southwestern Division, so exceptionally hard-hit these last three years by disaster of various kinds, had a fine exhibition of chapter preparedness in the recent Central Texas flood, according to information given out at the headquarters of the Southwestern Division at St. Louis.

When the Brazos River started rising and floods seemed imminent, the Division Disaster Relief Director was notified and as soon as it was found necessary to send relief, a night letter was sent to chapters in the vicinity of the flooded district but outside of the flood area. The call asked for clothing principally, and in less than seven hours in one case and twelve hours in others, supplies were on their way.

Dallas replied at 4 p. m. following the call received in the morning, that clothing had been shipped. Waco not only responded to the first request, but sent a second supply of clothing. Houston sent 883 garments which had been cleaned and sterilized. Other towns in the adjacent territory sent more than their quota within the next two days, and the result was that by the time a sufficient degree of order had been created to look after the the stricken inhabitants of the flooded area, there were supplies on hand sufficient to meet all the needs of the situation.

A feature of this wonderfully ready response, it is stated, was that all the garments sent were usuable and were the type needed. This showed that the chapters sending them considered the character of the disaster and the conditions of the people needing relief, making their contributions accordingly and did not use the "hit or miss" method of collecting supplies so frequently seen in cases of similar catastrophes.

The towns contributing to this particular flood, the statement show, in addition to those mentioned above, were Port Arthur, Jasper, Huntsville, Jacksboro, Greensville, and Denton, Tex., and Okmulgee, Okla. The latter sent its box of clothing, containing seventy-five garments, voluntarily without waiting to be called on by the division office.

"Ideas Are the Precious Jewels of Business"

Back in the Spring of 1902, at Kemmerer, Wyoming, an idea was born! It was strong, healthy, courageous! It was destined to grow; to become Nation-wide in all the things that combined, go to make the shoppers' store superior.

It was the idea—the precious jewel of business—from which was to develop the long line of 312 J. C. Penney Company busy stores, located here and there in 26 States.

That idea of nearly 20 years ago introduced a merchandising and selling policy of quality, service, economy—a policy that has weathered the storms and attracted hundreds of thousands of admirers. It is the policy that is carrying on to even greater, more remarkable achievements!

Through this great system of stores—a purchasing power of tremendous proportions—savings created and given to the public—store service that really serves—is afforded buying advantages every man, woman and child regards both a profit and a pleasure.

Farming and Banking

Perhaps no two widely different kinds of business ever went hand in hand more closely than farming and banking.

To the banks of a farming community the success of the farmer means their success as well as the success of every business man in that community, because farming is its chief industry—the business by which it lives.

And a good bank should mean much to the farmer in the handling of the financial part of his business.

This bank strives to be of the greatest possible service to the farmer—knowing that he is absolutely necessary to the bank and hoping to be necessary to him.

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Siefert Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pottsville, Pa.—"I suffered with female trouble for four or five years and was very irregular. I was not fit to do my work at times and took medicine from a doctor and got no benefit. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and took it and got all right. I gained twenty pounds or more and am now able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. SALLIE SIEFERT, 313 W. Fourth Street, Pottsville, Pa.

The everyday life of many housewives is a continual struggle with weakness and pain. There is nothing more wearing than the ceaseless round of household duties and they become doubly hard when some female trouble makes every bone and muscle ache, and nerves all on edge.

If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Siefert did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DISAPPEARS IN THE EARTH

Mystery of "Vanishing River" in Mexico Has Long Been a Puzzle to Scientists.

One of the most remarkable rivers in the world flows through the northern part of Mexico. It borders the great Mexican desert and to reach it one need travel only one day's journey on horseback from the Rio Grande, which marks the southern boundary of the United States in that region. The extraordinary river in question has its source in the hills bordering the desert. It flows southward for some twenty miles as smoothly as any well-behaved river, but, suddenly, as it flows between high bluffs, it becomes whirling rapids—rapids so strong and so dangerous that no man has ever been brave enough to attempt to cross the rushing waters.

One follows the rapids, as he walks along the bluff on either side, for about two miles, and then that river vanishes utterly. Hence the name Vanishing river. It disappears suddenly, mysteriously, completely, into the earth itself, and not into a cave, as one would suppose. Scientists have tried in vain to ascertain where that river goes; all that they have yet announced as the result of their explorations is that the river seems to drop sheer into the earth, as over the brink of a bottomless abyss, and that this Vanishing river is the most amazing body of water known to geogrephers.

PROPER METHOD OF READING

Bacon's Advice to "Weigh and Consider" Is as Valuable Today as When First Given.

Bacon is right, as he generally is, when he bids us read not to contradict and refute, not to believe and take for granted, nor to find talk and discourse, but to weigh and to consider. Yes, let us read to weigh and to consider. In the times before us that promise or threaten deep political, economical, and social controversy, what we need to do is to induce our people to weigh and consider. We want them to cultivate energy without impatience, activity without restlessness, inflexibility without ill-humor. I am not going to preach to you any indifference to money, or to the pleasures of social intercourse, or to the esteem and goodwill of our neighbors, or to any other of the consolations and necessities of life. But, after all, the thing that matters most, both for happiness and for duty, is that we should strive habitually to live with wise thoughts and right feelings.—"Studies in Literature," Lord Morley.

First Firemen.

Fire-fighting organizations of men are known to have existed in the Second century before Christ. Heron of Alexandria, 200 years before the Christian era, in an old manuscript which has escaped destruction, described an hydraulic machine used in Egypt during the time of the Ptolemies. It was composed of two brass cylinders resting on a wooden base with pistons fitted into them—in its principles practically like our present engine.

The Romans had squads of men to carry water in "hamae," or light vases, to the scene of an outbreak, where it was projected on to the fire by those in charge of the "siphones" or hand pumps. The precise nature of this instrument has not been determined, but from specimens found in excavations it must have been much like the old-fashioned syringe used by gardeners. These large organizations of men gave the Roman authorities trouble by their turbulence.

Mention is made of the medieval use of forcing pumps as fire engines at Augsburg in 1518.

The London Plane Tree.

Citizens of London have reason to be grateful to the plane tree, which beautifies their city more than any other English tree. It is called the London plane. With lofty dignity, clothed in pleasant green, it stands quietly in the parks and squares, a cheering sight to many hurrying workers. Sometimes it is stunted, but when it is free to expand it becomes one of the finest trees in the country. Some of them in Kew Gardens, "oh! so near to London," are magnificent. Many London children, who know little of the beauties of nature in the country, are familiar with the London plane. It is such a hardy tree that it flourishes in many strange corners of the city. It is strange to think that its origin is unknown. It is pleasant to know that it came to London as an outcast from the great family of trees, and, in return for the sanctuary afforded, has given the great city of its best.

Ireland's "Mayflower."

Students of Anglo-American history have directed attention to the fact that Ireland also had her Mayflower. This was the Englewing, which, later than 1636, set sail with a full passenger list of Ulster men for the American colonies. There were forty passengers, among whom were four ministers. Ill luck began at once, for unconquerable winds drove the vessel to the Scottish coast. A leak then held the ship in the "Kyles of Bute." Starting again, she achieved mid-Atlantic, but there a hurricane did much damage and caused such general discouragement that finally the Irish pilgrims made up their minds that Providence was frowning on their emigration, and turned their vessel back to Ireland.

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS RED CROSS SUNDAY

November 13 Is Date Designated by Harding for Special Observance by Churches.

Sunday, November 13, has been designated National Red Cross Sunday by a proclamation of President Harding. In a communication sent out from Washington to the clergy of America, the President says:

"To the Reverend Clergy:

The President of the United States has designated Sunday, November 13th, as RED CROSS SUNDAY.

It is hoped that on that day ministers of religion throughout the length and breadth of the land will make some mention to their congregations of the work of the American Red Cross, and will make an appeal to them that they enroll themselves in its membership.

The Roll Call is not a campaign. It is merely the yearly opportunity for men and women to pay their annual dues and renew their membership in the Red Cross.

The annual dues are One Dollar. Of this amount Fifty Cents is sent to National Headquarters and the chapter enrolling the membership retains Fifty Cents for local Red Cross activities.

Aside from special contributions this provides the working funds for the American Red Cross for the ensuing year.

The American Red Cross is unique in that it is at once a voluntary organization and a chartered agent of the Government of the United States.

Its membership is made up of thousands who voluntarily join, but under its Congressional Charter it is a self-perpetuating organization charged with certain duties and liable to certain obligations.

The object of the American Red Cross has been briefly set forth thus:

'The Union of all who Love In the Service of all who Suffer.'

Under its Congressional charter, issued by Act of Congress, January 5, 1905, its duties are not voluntary, but it is stated 'that the purposes of this organization are and shall me:

'1. To furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war and in accordance with the Conventions of Geneva.

'2. To act in matters of voluntary relief and in accord with the military and naval authorities as a medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy.

'3. To continue and carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace, and to apply the same in mitigating the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other great national calamities; and

'4. To devise and carry on measures for preventing the same.'

Nothing is more significant of the condition of things, both at home and abroad, than is the insistent call for the continued activity of the American Red Cross.

A year ago we thought that the end of the work of the American Red Cross overseas was in sight. A year ago we thought that our program at home would be along lines similar to those of the years before the war.

It is something of a surprise, therefore, today to find how broad and far-reaching are the tasks that the American Red Cross feels called upon to undertake. In response to the demands daily made upon it, and in fulfillment of the provisions of its charter."

The Fifth Midnight Roll Call, which will occur simultaneously all over the United States, will be conducted on Red Cross Monday. The Red Cross work for the disabled ex-service men, to which this organization owes such a tremendous obligation, relief of the starving and suffering children overseas, public health nursing in the cities, towns and rural communities of our own country, which is building a sturdier and healthier next generation, community work among the children through the Junior Red Cross organization classes to overcome the appalling high rate of malnourishment found among American children of rich and poor alike, first-aid and life-saving work to prevent the terrible death toll due to accidents annually in the United States, and the disaster relief work, which is so important a part of the peace-time program of the Red Cross, are some of the points emphasized in the President's call to the clergy of the country. In asking for the co-operation of the church and the clergy in the tasks that are set before the Red Cross, that organization is offering a comradeship of common service for the common good in its organization of "The Red Cross of Peace, in the Service of Those Who Suffer."

Enroll during the Red Cross Roll Call, November 11 to 23.

CATTLE AND HOGS LOWER LAMBS HIGHER

Kansas City Stock Yards, Nov. 8.—Though cattle receipts were larger than a week ago they were less than a year ago, and not excessive for this season of the year. Receipts elsewhere were liberal and the general tendency at all markets was downward. Here the liberal per cent of the offerings was stock and feeding grades that came from a wide area. Chicago had 47,000 hogs the largest run for some time, and with prices there lower the market here eased off moderately. Sheep and lambs were strong to 25 cents higher, and the light supply sold readily.

Today's Receipts

Receipts today were 25,000 cattle, 7500 hogs, 3500 sheep, compared with 16,000 cattle, 4000 hogs, and 2500 sheep a week ago, and 27,000 cattle, 10,500 hogs, and 10,000 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle

Trade in beef cattle opened slowly with lower bids. After killers had established a 15 to 25 cent decline on plain and medium quality classes, trade became active. Nothing choice to prime was offered in fed steers, and short fed classes brought $7.25 to $8.25. Grass fat offerings from Kansas and Missouri, were the plainest of the season, and the low quality is an indication that a close clean up is being made. Cows and heifers were weak to 15 cents lower, and veal calves weak to 50 cents lower.

Stockers and Feeders

Thin cattle were in liberal supply and while there was a fairly good demand prices were 15 to 25 cents lower. Good Panhandle and New Mexico calves, yearlings and twos predominated. A good many orders that were held up by the light run late last week were filled today.

Hogs

Hog prices declined 10 to 25 cents mostly 15 cents. At that decline trade was active. The top price was $7.50 and bulk of sales $6.90 to $7.35. Pigs sold up to $8.10. Chicago reported 47,000 the largest supply for some time past, and all eastern markets declined supply. Here receipts continue short of a year ago.

Sheep and Lambs

Supplies in the sheep division were light and trade ruled active at strong to 25 cents higher prices. Both Texas and Western lambs sold at $8.65, and fair quality ewes at $4.00. Feeding lambs were scarce.

Horses and Mules

Demand in the horse and mule division was active at strong prices. General trade is the best of the year.

Royal Hereford Show

Beginning Saturday, Nov. 12th, and lasting one week, a Royal Hereford Show will be held. This is a substitute for the American Royal Live Stock Show due to the fact that the new show pavilion will not be completed until next year. On Nov. 17th the Highland Hereford Breeders Association will sell 1500 calves and yearlings at auction at the stock yards.

FIGHTING FOR PEACE AND NOT FOR POLITICS

Dr. Burris Jenkins Disclaims Ambition to Be Senator—Prefers Pastorate.

"I haven't been playing politics for the last three years, though you may think so; I have been fighting for peace."

So declared Dr. Burris A. Jenkins in the course of a sermon on "The Washington Peace Conference" at the Linwood Boulevard Christian church in Kansas City Sunday morning.

It was Dr. Jenkins' first appearance in his pulpit since his resignation last week as editor and publisher of the Kansas City Post.

"It is an appropriate time to discuss peace," Dr. Jenkins said, "because we are on the eve of the great conference of the nations at Washington on the limitation of armament and Far Eastern problems; because it is Armistice week, and because three years ago I returned from the frightful scenes of war to fight for peace.

"At last I can speak without fear of being misunderstood.

"Three years ago I was grasping every opportunity to fight for peace.

"There was handed into my hands a weapon with which to fight.

"Some said it was to play politics with.

"Don't you know if I had wished to be elected senator, I would have been handicapped rather than aided by my connection with the newspaper. It is hard for the editor of a newspaper to be elected to office.

"One man has said, 'Now, he's learned he can't be senator and editor of a newspaper, so he's quit the newspaper.'

"I say, my good friends, I'd rather be pastor of this church than senator."

"I haven't been playing politics for the last three years, though you may think so," Dr. Jenkins continued. "I have been fighting for peace.

"And I am so stubborn in my thinking that I am not convinced that it was not best to ratify the treaty of Versailles."

LOAD OF 482 LB. HOGS SOLD BY G. L. FELTON

A load of hogs that attracted a great deal of attention in South St. Joseph today was a drove of 40 fancy heavy Poland Chinas, contributed by G. L. Felton, Nodaway county. These hogs were among the heaviest porkers sold here this year in carload lots and for quality, size and finish their equal have seldom been seen on the local market. The drove averaged 482lbs., selling to a scrum company for hypering purposes. They brought $7 a cwt., the sale grossing $33.74 per head. These hogs were raised and fed by Mr. Hughes, a partner of Mr. Felton.—South St. Joseph Journal.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH REVIVAL TO CLOSE TOMORROW NIGHT

Last Service Will Be for New Members —"The Unpardonable Sin" Again Tonight.

There has been a total of 684 additions to the church thus far in the county evangelistic campaign of Christian churches. There are three meetings yet to be held in the county, Arkoe, Graham and Quitman. The county board hopes to make arrangements soon for these meetings.

The Maryville meeting will close tomorrow night. There have been 200 added in the local campaign and several more are expected in the next two services.

The subject tonight will be another sermon on "The Unpardonable Sin." Tomorrow night the sermon will be directed particularly to the new members. All who have responded to the invitations during the meeting are asked to be present and will be seated together in a section reserved for them.

Baptismal services will be held both nights and all who have not yet been baptized are asked to come prepared for baptism.

Good Crowd Attends First Showing of Extraordinary Filming of Ibanez Story.

Metro's picturization of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," the remarkably popular book by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, which began its local engagement at the Empire theater yesterday with a matinee and night performances and will continue today and Wednesday with daily matinees at 2:30 p. m. and evening at 8:30 p. m., was well attended at the night performance last evening. Those who witnessed the picture thought it was one of the best pictures ever shown here.

That "The Four Horsemen" is not an ordinary picture is evidenced from the attention that has been given to it by critical writers both in the newspapers and in the reviews.

Big Audience at First Christian Church Hears Harvey Hindermyer and the Dann Trio in EDISON Tone-Test

In a test of direct comparison, made yesterday at First Christian Church, before a large audience, the New Edison scored a complete and convincing triumph.

Harvey Hindermyer, the famous tenor, sang in direct comparison with the RE-CREATION of his voice by the New Edison. To every ear, there was no difference between his living voice and his RE-CREATED voice.

This is the most drastic phonograph test known. No other phonograph has ever sustained it. No other phonograph has even attempted it.

The New Edison's marvelous performance of yesterday vindicates everything that has been said or claimed for its perfect realism.

Mr. Hindermyer stood on the stage next to a shapely Chippendale cabinet. He began to sing. His golden notes soared over the auditorium, bringing all under its magic spell.

Halfway through his song, he suddenly stopped singing. The New Edison, at his side, took up his song,—and continued it alone.

Singer and phonograph thus alternated, throughout the song.

The only way the audience could be sure which was singing, was by watching Mr. Hindermyer's lips,—so exactly like the living voice was the RE-CREATED voice.

The Dann Trio made the same test of comparison with the RE-CREATIONS of their instrumental selections. Again the same result—there was no difference between the RE-CREATED performance and the living performance.

Proof was piled upon proof! Evidence was massed on evidence! The end of the concert found the audience absolutely and completely convinced, through its own personal experience, that there is no difference between an artist's living performance and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison,—that listening to the New Edison is, in literal truth, the same as listening to the living artists.
